Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133).
- Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

1. Claims 1-20 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-14 and 16-22 of copending Application No. 09978,602. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the ingredients and their concentrations are the same.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

2. Claims 1-20 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-26 of copending Application No. 09/723,567. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the ingredients and their concentrations are the same.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

5. Claims 1-9,11 and 16-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Strickland 4,822,524, in view of Achtmann 5,882,541, further in view of Vandersall 4,839,065 or EP 0 911 067.

6. Strickland discloses ammonium polyphosphate, attapulgite clay, sodium ferrocyanide, red iron oxide and xanthan gum in Example 1. For the level of xanthan gum see column 3, lines 6-7. Achtmann teaches that the particle size of xanthan gum usable in fire retardant compositions is of about 50 to about 250 mesh (column 6, lines 59-61), which is approximately 60-300 microns. Vandersall recites all the standard additives used by applicants in the instant application, while EP 0911 067 proves that xanthan gum concentrations of up to 0.2% have been used in fire retardant compositions containing phosphates. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made, to use the particle size taught by Achtmann in the composition of Strickland, since a smaller particle size yields higher viscosities and better dispersion.

7. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Peter Szekely whose telephone number is (703) 308-2460. The examiner can normally be reached on 7:00 a.m-5:30 p.m. Tuesday-Friday.
